

Partner Program

Commercial benefits of a partnership with HMS

HMS Industrial Networks' Partner Program is part of an ambitious new approach to the industrial communication gateway market. Selected partners associate with local authorized HMS distributors and provide added value through HMS' gateways by providing add-on services and application knowledge. Within this program, partners will benefit from lead sharing, project management, technical and sales training via the "HMS Academy", all aimed to help our partners succeed in the field and gain a competitive advantage in the market.

Partner categories and levels

The HMS partner program targets OEM / machine builders, system integrators, or companies wishing to do business with HMS gateways and remote device management products.

Two levels of partnership GOLD and SILVER are designed to recognize and reward our partners' efforts and investments with the sales of HMS gateway products.

- Gain access to HMS's global sales network
- Be integrated within HMS's marketing
- Receive prelaunch product information
- Free technical support
- Gain additional discounts and project pricing
- Benefit from HMS Academy technical and sales training

System Partner - GOLD

System partners - GOLD provide extended service levels and a high level of technical support to their customers. They have completed the full Academy training program, provide detailed project reporting and have demonstrated an excellent business performance measured by revenues. These system partners have a structured business plan utilizing HMS gateways.

System Partner - SILVER

System partners - SILVER offer complete solutions, including on-site installations and first-line support, which qualify them for this status and the benefits of this category. System partners - SILVER have completed the initial Academy training program, provide basic project reporting and actively promote HMS gateways in new projects.
